(1) The present price list is submitted to the General Subscription and Licence Terms and is established in Euros excluding VAT. Belgian VAT rate (21%) is applicable on the invoiced amount unless a non Belgian client, member of an EU State, has passed on his own intra community VAT number to Codata. In that case, the invoice will be issued without VAT.

(2) The subscription to the service Codata Explorer consists in one or more access rights and credit use of the service, with or without option. The subscription is for a period of 12 months and credit use is expressed in number of "Codata Units". It is automatically suspended either when the 12 subscribed months expire or when the number of "Codata Units" is reached. When the 12 subscribed months expire, the subscription is renewed by tacit agreement for a new period of one year and is based on the same credit use, options and access. However, during the 12 subscribed months and at the client's request, the subscription may be renewed in advance for a new period of 12 months and for the same or different number of access, options and credit use. Any subscription cancellation by either party shall only be notified by recorded delivery with acknowledgment of receipt with a one month's notice before the expiration date. Any failure or delay in payment on the due date mentioned on the invoice automatically leads to a suspension of access until receipt of payment. The licence is granted for a period of one year starting from the date on which the subscription takes effect. After this period the Client/Member shall refrain from any further use of the Database.

(3) A "Codata Unit" is meant as measurement unit of any result of any search that required the use of Codata server resources (map display, lists, statistics, pictures, panoramic views, index cards, data download...). Each screen page or homogeneous set of information is counted as one "Codata Unit". Each "Site" or "Shops Statistics" index card is counted for three "Codata Unit". Each downloaded PDF file accounts for one "Codata Unit" for each series of 75 lines in the case of lists, for one "Codata Unit" by address in the case of email collection, for one "Codata Unit" in the case of index cards, statistics, pictures. Each downloaded PDF file is counted as two "Codata Units" for maps in A4 format and four "Codata Units" for maps in A3 format. Each downloaded data file accounts for one or several "Codata Units" by line and by group of data attributes according to calculation rules explained in the file selection and creation process before the user's validation and before files downloading. Any display of the "Street View" is counted as four "Codata Units". Moving in the "Street View" does not use any additional "Codata Unit". Each generation of an Isochrone is counted as twenty "Codata Units". The use as a search criterion of any contour from the "Codata map" is taken into account for 40 "Codata Units".

(4) The price list of the service, of the Reproduction Rights and of the Data Integration Rights is based on the amount of subscribed "Codata Units", each access taken into account. The subscriber will be informed of his use of the service as soon as his average consumption is about to exceed the subscribed amount of "Codata Units". The subscriber will only be informed by email. The email will be sent to the email address passed on to Codata.

(5) The use of the service excluding options includes access to all available data and functionalities, with the exception of the options "Reproduction Rights" and "Integration Rights".

(6) The options Reproduction Rights and Integration Rights include respectively the rights to reproduce and the rights to integrate data from Codata Explorer within the terms expressed in the General Subscription and Licence Terms. The option Reproduction Rights includes the downloading functionality of Pdf and Png files. The option Integration Rights includes the downloading functionality of Xls, Pdf and Png files. Access to these specific functionalities can be suspended by Codata at the subscriber's request, notably for reasons including control of his consumption.
